PRESS RELEASE

Skilled Colorado Plastic Surgeon Dr. Christopher G. Williams Earns Full Board Certification

Dr. Christopher G. Williams earns certification from the American Board of Plastic Surgery, demonstrating high levels of skill, professionalism and ethics in plastic and reconstructive surgery.

Littleton, CO, March 29, 2010 - Dr. Christopher G. Williams, a leading plastic and reconstructive surgeon at Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery in Denver, has earned full board certification by the American Board of Plastic Surgery (ABPS). ABPS certification is awarded to skilled and experienced plastic surgeons who have met strict advanced training requirements and have demonstrated high professional and ethical standards.

An accomplished plastic and reconstructive surgeon with Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery since 2008, Dr. Williams earned his medical degree from the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. He completed eight years of advanced residency training at the top-ranked, prestigious Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he studied the full range of plastic and reconstructive surgery techniques, including craniofacial surgery, facial trauma, microsurgery reconstruction, and aesthetic surgery. Following his residency, Dr. Williams received additional specialized training from two of the world's foremost experts in peripheral nerve surgery and microsurgical breast reconstruction.

Dr. Williams is well-versed in the most sophisticated and advanced surgical techniques, with special expertise in peripheral nerve disorders, microsurgical breast reconstruction, and tissue engineering. The author of numerous papers and book chapters on his specialties, Dr. Williams has been awarded several patents for the development of novel technologies that use stem cells derived from bone marrow to repair bone and cartilage.

Dr. Christopher Williams is part of an experienced and skilled team of surgeons at Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery who are dedicated to maintaining the highest levels of patient care. The Park Meadows team also includes Dr. Randolph C. Robinson and Dr. Jeremy Z. Williams.
